BARNUM'S RACE.—The telegraph, a few days ago, reported that P. T. Barnum won a foot race at the Franconia House, White Mountains. A correspondent of the Hartford Post give the following version of the race:

"After dinner the entire company repaired to the verandah of and promenade in front of the house, for a little frolic as usual; the moving spirits in the crowd seemed to be Barnum and the Grand Lockwood, who had been here for some little time. Barnum made a humorous speech, which set the crowd into roars of laughter, and then proposed a race of the heavy men of the house, which should include himself. Circulating among the company, his picked out six of the largest and fattest men he could find, and placed them in a row directly in front of the steps of the piazza. He then addressed them, and said the race would be to the fence, some fifty rods distant. They were to start upon his counting three, and the stakes were to be a life ticket to his new museum, and a copy of his lecture on Humbuggery; then taking his position at the head of the line, he slowly and deliberately counted one—two—three. At the word 'three' they all started on a dead run, with the exception of Barnum, who quietly sat down on the steps. The fat men did not discover the sell until they had reached the fence, and were greeted with shouts of laughter from the crowd on the verandah."

DISCOVERY OF EXTENSIVE RUINS IN ARIZONA.—A party of surveyors in Arizona, engaged in exploring the country for railroad routes, lately came upon some very extensive ruins on the banks of the Little Colorado river. They extended along the river for many miles. Some of the walls of buildings are yet in their places, and stand six or eight feet high. The streets may be traced for miles. The old irrigating canals and ditches are yet in a fair state of preservation, and may be traced for miles also. The ground is strewn with broken crockery ware. The party found some masonry which seemed of curious form. The walls seem to be of a different quality and finer than found at most of the ruins in Arizona. Many of the walls of the buildings were built of heavy stone, and put up in a workmanlike manner. To all appearance here once stood a city of many thousands of inhabitants. Who they were or to what tribes they belonged there is no record to show. On the east bank are the ruins of a large structure or castle, covering several acres of land; some of the walls are yet standing to the height of twenty or thirty feet.

Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Co., OF HARTFORD, CONN.
A favorable opportunity is presented to energetic and reliable business men who can devote their entire time to the business, to represent this old, staunch, and most successful Life Company, in unoccupied territory in the State of Vermont. The many popular features peculiar to the Phoenix Mutual, and the great advantages it offers to the insuring public—its freedom from restrictions on travel and occupation—its non-forfeitable policies—its liberal premium system—the economy of the management, and its large annual dividends, render it the most profitable company any Agents desirous of realizing a handsome competency by their enterprise and energy.
